Know your rights

The question is; what went wrong after twenty-six years of our independence?

The answer is: corruption, nepotism, favoritism, class disparity, tribalism, discrimination, arrogance, ignorance, carelessness, unequal distribution of resources.

As a voter, wake up and smell the coffee. Realize that the suffering you are experiencing is as a result of your inability to connect your vote to your own development needs. Change starts with you. The earlier you realize to bring change to yourself, the more you are likely to vote differently. Who will take you seriously if you do not even know your rights? Some might even think that you are comfortable with your suffering and misery. Stop believing every word the ruling party tells you. Educate and enlighten yourself. Remember, “ignorance is the dark night of the mind”.

All the above-mentioned negative vices contribute to your own and your fellow citizens’ suffering. Wake up and be part of change.

Together, We Can Do Better!
