The National Equitable Economic Empowerment Framework, in the opinion of the RDP, should aim to bring about economic transformation and restructuring. Economic transformation must ensure that the majority of Namibians, and not the elite and well-connected, participate in the economy of the country. Any discriminatory legislation shall not bring about the much needed beneficiation to the majority of our people.

Namibia needs effective and transformational policies and legislations that will correct economic and social imbalances of the past and the present. Namibia has so much potential to build a very strong and inclusive economy. New legislations on economic transformation must ensure that mistakes of the so called black economic empowerment are avoided by all means,. To address the small economy that we have in Namibia today, we need a broad-based and inclusive economy.

Together, We Can Do Better!
